

First Dakota National Bank Funds Availability Policy Disclosure

This disclosure applies to transaction accounts, which in general are accounts with an unlimited ability to transfer funds. Checking accounts are the most common transaction accounts.

First Dakota National Bank Funds Availability Policy is to make funds from your deposits available to you on the first business day after the day of the deposit. However, there are types of deposit activity which will be available on the day the deposit is received. See our Availability Timeline chart below.

In some cases longer delays may apply. If we are not going to make the funds available under general availability practices you will be notified of the delayed date of availability.

Determining the Availability of a Deposit – What Is a Business Day?

We determine availability based on the date and time of your deposit. A business day is defined as any day of the week except Saturday, Sunday, and federal holidays. If we receive your deposit before the end of the business day or the applicable cutoff time for deposits not made at one of our locations, we will consider that day to be the day of deposit. If you make a deposit on a day we are not open or after a cutoff time for deposits not made in person, then the next business day we are open will be considered the day of deposit.

Accelerated Availability

If you make a deposit of checks or money orders on a business day that we are open, we may make part of your deposit available to you sooner than otherwise stated in this policy. The balance of your deposit will become available according to the other terms of this policy.

Longer Delays May Apply

In some cases, we will not make all of the funds that you deposit by check available to you on the first business day after the day of your deposit. Depending on the type of check that you deposit, funds may not be available until the second business day after the day of your deposit. The first $225 of your deposit will be available no later than the first business day after the day of your deposit.

For example, if a check is deposited for $1,200 on a Tuesday, $225 of the deposit is available on Wednesday with the remaining $1000 available on Thursday. If we are not going to make all funds from your deposit available on the next business day, we will notify you at the time you make your deposit. The notice will include the date the funds will be available. If your deposit is not made directly to one of our employees, or if we decide to take this action after you have left the premises, we will mail you the notice the day after we receive your deposit.

Longer delays may apply to the funds from check deposits under the following circumstances:

- Depositing checks totaling more than $5,525 on any one business day
- Redepositing a check that has been returned unpaid
- The account is repeatedly overdrawn in the last six months
- There is an emergency, such as failure of computer or communications equipment
- We believe the check you deposit will not be paid

We may delay these funds up to seven business days. We will notify you of the exception reason and outline the date when the funds will be available within the notice provided to you at the time of your deposit or mailed no later than the day after the date of deposit. If we discover facts to delay availability subsequent to your deposit, we will notify you as soon as possible, but no later than the day after the facts become known to us.
